Thommo's Talk

What have we done wrong! This weather has really got tough the last couple of weeks. The country, the feed and the crops have just gone backwards! We have to hope for storms or that a cyclone comes down the coast and brings us some general rain for mid December. We have good stock levels of forage millet, sorghum and maize seed. When it does rain we will plant in December and early January. The commodity prices are going to stay strong, so we need to plant to cash in on these good prices.

We have some stocks of lucerne hay and grassy lucerne on hand and out on farm in squares, rounds and big squares. The demand is strong for these and we will also have barley straw available early to mid December.

Salt blocks are starting to turn up, with salt and molasses based blocks on hand in all sizes. We appreciate your patience during the block shortage.

A quick reminder that we will have fish fingerlings at the end of December so please get your order in before Christmas.
